THE TRIBUNE ALMANAC, which has made its regular annual appearance before the American public since 1838, has been received for 1871. In many important particulars it has come to be a standard authority, especially in the matter of election returns, the particulars of which are given by counties throughout the union, every year. The present number makes this part again a leading feature, and in addition thereto there is a vast amount of other political and statistical information, which is practically useful to every observant man, who would be posted on questions of deep interest to the country. The following table of the population by states for 1860 and 1870 is of value to every citizen:

CO OPERATION.

OR

A Sketch of the Conditions of Attractive Industry; and Outline of a plan for the Organization of Labor. With a notice of the Kansas Co-Operative Form of M Ernest V. DeBoissiere. By E. P. GRANT, Canton, Ohio.

A pamphlet bearing the above title has been recently issued by the American News Co. of New York, the design of which is, by a suggestive sketch rather than an exhaustive exposition, to explain those conditions with which humanity must surround itself in order to realize that universal happiness which after its stage of immaturity is passed, is believed by the author to be its certain destiny.

One of the fundamental principles upon which the author's system is based, though not put forward as a leading idea, and only ineidentally alluded to in various passages, and especially near the close of the chapter on Communion is this: "The passions of all sentient beings (man not excepted) are the Interpreters of the Divine will in respect to their mode of acrion."

This proposition being accepted as an indubitably true revelation written upon the constitution of all beings whatever, proves that the true progress of humanity can never be promoted, nor its condition materially improved, by any effort to make men obey moral precepts, or conform, in their action, to a y moral standard or rules of duty which morality or religion may prescribe. A true reform is possible in no other way than by placing men in such external circumstances that, while selfishly seeking their own gratification and enjoyment, they will always promote the interests of others as certainly as they do their own; and I regard it as indispensable to beneficent human progress that the practicability of such a reform should be recognized and acted upon. Having a reform of this kind in view, all attempts to influence conduct by appeals to the moral feelings, and all expedients to secure the practice of morality, or that personal righteousness which religion enjoins, become inappropriate and irrelevant. Such appeals and such expedients may not, indeed, be without effect. Certain persons, particularly women and children, and such neutral and passive characters as are willing to play a subordinate part in society, may be more or less influenced by them; but not many others, and least of all these enterprising members of the business classes, who, by trade and speculation, and what is called business capacity, or, more properly, sharpness, and appropriate to themselves so large a part of that wealth which labor creates These last, whenever obedience to current moralisms stand in the way of their selfish greed of gain, will not scruple at all to trample them under their feet, regardless even of appearances, except so far as they expect to make appearances to operate, in some way, to their advantage. Hence the limits within which human conduct can be modified by moral teachings are very much restricted; while, within those limits, there is serious doubt whether the benefits of moral restraints predominate so much over their mischiefs as seems to be generally supposed. The doubt is suggested by two considerations. One is, that obedience to moral precepts, regardless of consequences, as distinguished from a show of obedience for interested purposes, enures largely to the benefit of the selfish and rapacious who disregard them, and who are thus enabled to profit at the expense of the sincerely obedient; the other is, that so far as such obedience can be secured, it tends to neutralize certain conspicuous mischiefs of a false system; and thus by reconciling us to such a system, to postpone its total abrogation, which is the reform really demanded. Therefore, while I regard it as impossible that society should be constructed on moral principles, I regard it as also fortunate that it cannot be so constructed; because if it were, humanity might be arrested for an indefinitely long time on its onward march to its higher and nobler destiny It may probably be truly affirmed that if human conduct could be made universally to conform to the accepted standard of morality, it would be the greatest misfortune which could befall the human race, for the reason that it might disastrously protract an imperfect, stagnant and negative social condition.

Charles Fourier was the first, so far as I know, to announce to the world the great and important truth upon which so much stress is laid, that the Passions of the human soul (that is, its desires, impulses, &c,) are the interpreters of the Divine will. This doctrine, which necessitates attractive industry in order to be universally true; or, rather perhaps, requires attractive industry as a condition without which the Divine character cannot be wholly defended against the charge of malignity, constitutes, as I think, the chief, if not, indeed, the sole merit of Fourier's teachings. I do not know why he did not make it the corner stone of his system, but he did not in express terms do so, nor did he otherwise put it so much in the foreground as it seems to me he might properly have done; while very few of his professed disciples manifest even an approximately just appreciation of its far reaching significance. But if this doctrine were eliminated from his philosophy, I could recognize nothing remaining in it deserving even of the guarded and qualified commendations which many who repudiate his system have bestowed upon it.

The meaning of the doctrine is, that every desire that man (or any being) feels, is the voice of God commanding him to do that which the desire prompts him to do. God never commands in any other way than by attraction direct or inverse, that is, only the desires or antipathies; and such commands as are thus written on the constitution of the sentient beings, are indubitably authentic, as they are also entirely free from ambiguity. The craving of the drunkard for the intoxicating draught,—the thirst for revenge kindled by a sense of wrong and outrage,—the impulse from what ever source derived, to murder, rob or steal —are not exceptions to this absolutely universal law. It is by such subversive reactions of the passional forces that nature utters her remonstrances against the causes by which the passions have been perverted, and appeals to that intelligence with which man is endowed to perform its proper function of extirpating these causes, and substituting for them such incentives as shall direct the passions aright. The problem with which this intelligence has to grapple is not to destroy or diminish human selfishness—which is and always will be impossible—but to utilize it and make it subservient to the universal good. It should assume that it is not by the repression, but by the indulgence of the appetites that God's commands are most perfectly obeyed; and therefore that, in the constantly recurring cases in which an individual or selfish appetite, or, indeed, any appetite, prompts an agent to use means for its gratification which thwart the normal desires of others, or another, or all circumstances considered, operate injuriously upon the agent himself, it should recognize passional discords or collisions, which can result from nothing else than a want of harmony between the agent and his environment, and should therefore seek to reduce to order the conflicting elements; for by this doctrine the fact is forced upon us as incontestible, that all vices and crimes have their origin in famished appetites or outraged affections rising in insurrection against the restraints that fustrate the gratification which is justly their due.

Moral, precepts, therefore, or in religious phraseology, principles of personal righteousness, are at best but expedients to palliate the mischief of passional conflict, when opposing appetites clash with each other; and thus produce evil and suffering; while the task to which the human intelligence is, in fact, summoned, and to which it ought to address itself, is to place the appetites in such relations to each other and to external circumstances that their free and natural actions will be not merely harmless but beneficent. Moralisms aim at the impossible achievement of adapting human nature to false conditions, when it is these indications alone that admit of change; human nature being unchangeable, or rather changeable only in respect to the direction which its activities may take under a change of external influences. All moral teachings are therefore, mere devices of the unskilled and immature human intellect to limit the play of man's passional forces so that their collision shall do the least possible harm; and so long as a man in his blindness can see nothing better to do, his efforts in this direction have a certain transitory utility, and are perhaps even necessary. But the relation of such efforts to the true agencies of reform, is the same as that which the ignorance of the surgeon who can only save his patient by amputating a diseased limb bears to science and skill which, without amputation, restores the limb to perfect health and soundness.

Moral precepts are suggested by the theory of human depravity, a theory which presupposes that man's perversity has been victorious over an omnipotent Creator, and has thus defeated His beneficent designs; and this theory is suggested by the jarring, and often baneful, action of the passions during the immature phase of human development, when the institutions adapted to their harmonious action are yet unereated, or are rudimentary or incomplete.

These considerations lead irresistably to the conclusion, or rather invoke the truth, that the moral distinctions, now so much insisted upon, by which some human actions are commended as right, and others condemned as wrong, have no other foundation than man's unenlightened judgment concerning expediences; and that such distinctions are, therefore, temporary, and are certain to pass away, when humanity shall emerge from its infantile state of ignorance and darkness into the light of that day which by the progress of science, is already beginning to dawn upon the world. E P. G.

DO YOU USE TOBACCO OR LIQUOR

No one department of business has received more close study and investigation than life insurance, and the almost unerring certainty of the actuary's calculations shows the study not to have been in vain. Nothing that has a tendency to shorten live and, consequently increase the hazard, is overlooked by a medical examiner. After the long questions in regard to hereditary diseases, peasonal health and that of relatives, the question which we have used as a head-line as propounded, "Do you use tobacco or liquor?" Can any deny that the business of life insurance is based on sound principles, and that something like perfection has been reached in practically applying these principles? We do not pretend to say that the man who uses liquor or tobacco would be ejected as an unfit subject for insurance but there is no doubt that these habits are taken into account when the application is being considered. A combination of other objections which would not be sufficient to induce the rejection of the risk, will often be considered sufficient when coupled with either or both of these habits. There is something in this precaution by life insurance companies that should open the eyes of the thousands who use tobacco and liquor. When men's pecuniary interests point in any particular direction, you may feel perfectly certain as to how they will act The managers of life companies have immense amounts at stake in the lives of their policy holders: they have investigated the pros and cons of prospective life in a manner that has not been equaled by any other persons, and they consider these among the leading causes which shorten life. When men are not particularly interested they may laugh at the idea of tobacco being an injury, but when it comes into calculations of a business transaction, the verdict of health will always go to the abstainer. If the use of these articles is not a serious injury, why do those men who have the results of years of experience and study to guide them, pay any attention to the matter? They never want to know if an applicant drinks water or tea, or eats roast beef. We leave the suggestions with the liquor drinkers and tobacco users.

An exchange thus compares farm products and newspaper bills, which is so forcible that we transfer it to our columns: "If you are a farmer, and raised a thousand or fifteen hundred bushels of wheat, and had to trust it out by the bushel all over the country, would you not think that those you trusted should make every exertion to pay you so that you get in your next year's crop, and live while it is maturing? The printer is in the same predicament, and taking the case home to yourself, don't you think you ought to pay him?"

THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE MIAMI AND ERIE CANAL.

One reason why the canals of Ohio have not been more complete and serviceable to the commerce of the State is that the people interested in their maintenance have been over-modest in making known the estimate they place upon them A phamplet has been published in this city to stimulate the people along the line of the Miami and Erie Canal to demand of the legislature such action as shall subserve the interests of the business public. A petition is also being circulated for signatures in this city, and other cities and towns on the canal:

To the Honorable the General Assembly of the State of Ohio:

Your petitioners, residents of the State along the Miami & Erie Canal between the Ohio River and Lake Erie, beg leave respectfully to call the attention of your honorable body to the increased demand of our great and growing commercial, agricultural, manufacturing and mineral interests, for greater and cheaper facilities for water transportation between Ohio River and Lake Erie: and therefore ask that your honorable body may enact such laws as in your judgment you may deem expedient and necessary to carry out the recommendations of the Board of Public Works of Feb 2d. 1870, by enlarging the capacity of said canal, and also giving commerce a permanent and suitable connection with this canal and the Ohio River at Cincinnati; and as in duty bound, your petitioners will ever pray.

The legislation asked for is that the canal be dredged to the depth originally contemplated in its construction, and the lengthening of the locks so as to allow the passage of boats of greater length and consequently of greater tonnage. This will greatly lessen the costs of carrying coal, iron, salt, lumber, cord wood, and other heavy freight, and thus lighten the burden of manufacturers and consumers. To complete the improvement, the petitioners ask that the connection with the Ohio river should be restored, by the way of Mill Creek; an improvement which will greatly benefit the trade of the canal and promote the manufacturing and commercial interests of every neighborhood along the line. The State in an inconsiderate moment ceded that portion of the canal which passed through the city of Cincinnati. But now it is found to have been a great mistake The Mill Creek proposition, however, is entirely practicable and promises important benefit to the State.

By all means, let the business men of Toledo, Cincinnati and every canal city and town, as well as every farmer and mechanic on the line of the same sign the petition, and let those who have influence write to their representatives to give this project their support.

Let, there be no false economy thrown in the teeth of this timely and wise suggestion. Let there be no more "penny-wise and pound foolish" legislation on canal matters. The farm produce of Ohio already suffers from heavy western competitions, and cheap freights are essential to save our agricultural districts from more depletion of population than this year's census report. Manufacturers demand cheap coal by way of Ohio river. This we can only get by means of the improvement suggested. On all freight we need the effects of healthy competition by canal and railway tariffs. The canals have cost us much money. We cannot afford to lose the investment we have made in them, and to bring them to their highest efficiency and usefulness we should carry out the very practiable suggestions of the Board of Public Works for their improvement.

The Germantown Telegraph says that it is getting to be a pretty general opinion among farmers, that the sowing of grass seed—clover or timothy—with the wheat in the fall, as has been common in nearly every wheat growing district here, as well as to the north and east of us, is the cause of rust on wheat, by reason of the moisture which the grass retains affecting the grain stalks when maturing. These grass seeds, sown after the wheat has been harvested, will produce it is claimed, as good crops the following year as if sown at the time of the wheat nine months previously. We should like to hear from farmers on this subject, as there are apparently two sides to it, and especially as it is one of decided importance.

It is rare to find a field of winter wheat on which there are not low spots where the water lies on the surface. Much might have been done to prevent this by "furrowing out" as soon as the grain was sown. Now, it must be done with the hoe and spade. Some wheat may be destroyed by the operation, but not one tenth of what will be "winter killed" if the water is allowed to remain on the land. Let not a moment be lost in attending to this matter. It is by no means a substitute for underdraining, but it is better than nothing. If the land is low commence to dig where there is an outlet, and make the water follow you up into the land. You will be astonished to find how much fall there is, even on land that is apparently on dead level. Try it, and you will save enough to buy a first class agricultural library.

Death & Co., wholesale and retail dealers in spirits, wine and malt liquor, take this opportunity of informing their friends that they still follow the trade of making drunkards, bankrupts, beggars and maniacs on the most reasonable terms at the shortest notice.

The subscribers return their sincere thanks to numerous customers, and to all the tippling part of the community, for the extensive patronage they now receive; and they hope that the many proofs that are now to be found of their success in the above line of business will secure them the increased support of drunkards and tipplers, as well as to forever silence the advocates of total abstinence societies—those bitter enemies of their established and popular trade.

Death & Co. beg leave to assure the public that the articles in which they deal are the best and most pleasant poisons in the world; and they will warrant them certain death in every case where the individual perseveres in the use of them.

Death & Co. bring themselves under obligations to send more persons to the poor house, the prison the gallows, and the graveyard than any other firm; and they will also do it with the greatest possible dispatch. To accomplish these desirable ends, it is only necessary for the individual to take a glass occasionally, till he feels that quantity insufficient to gratify the craving appetite which it will soon create; and when this appetite is formed; the persons are then prepared to brave temporal and eternal misery for another glass. In short, Death & Co. will spare no pains or expense to bring the wives and children of their customers to misery, temporal and eternal, and drive to delerium and death as many as the public good may require. They are constantly receiving new supplies of the poisonous liquids, which they will sell by the glass, gallon or barrel.

For the accommodation of their numerous customers, and for their increasing business, Death & Co, have appointed a sufficient number of active agents, who are stationed at convenient distances on all our principal streets, in beer shops, groceries, &c. They may be known by the different signs of Saloon, Ale and Beer, Wines and Liquors, wholesale and retail, as well as by the odor of the poisons continually polluting the air around. Satisfactory references can be given to country jails, lunatic asylums, work houses or the wives and families of those whom Death & Co. have made drunkards.

N. B.—Death & Co. beg leave also to caution all tipplers and dram drinkers from giving any heed to their wives, children or friends, or any advocates of total abstinence societies, as these parties are enemies to this soul and body destroying business. Gentlemen, by calling on our agents, may see specimens of drunkards and subjects of the charnel house, at all hours, by day and night, Sundays not excepted. DEATH & Co.

Youngstown, Ohio.

The Carbondale New Era, alluding to the efficient service rendered to General Logan by his estimable wife; in the recent Senatorial contest says:

"From the fact in immediate notice we beg leave to impart two lessons. First, that Governor Oglesby must remain a bachelor no longer; and secondly, that our public men must make up their minds to get wives with brains in their heads, and souls in their natures. Heretofore, the editors of this country have managed to marry about all the tip top women agoing, leaving one now and then for the politicians. If these, like the others, had just the right kind of wives, we would have civil service reform, the speedy payment of the national debt, the abolition of all rings and land jobbing swindles, revenue reform, economical and just administration, wise legislation generally; and, in short, everything would be lovely."

A fat old gentleman who had been bitten in the calf of his leg by a dog, came to Jonah in a towering passion, declaring that it was Jonah's dog that had bitten him. Expecting an action for damages, the wag drew up the following articles as the ground for his defense:

1. By testimony in favor of the general good conduct of my dog, it can prove that nothing could make him so forgetful of his dignity as to bite a calf.
2. He is blind and cannot see to bite.
3. Even if he could see to bite, it would be utterly impossible for him to go out of the way to do so, on account of his severe lameness.
4. Granting his eyes and legs to be good, he had no teeth.
5. My dog died six weeks since.
6. I never had a dog.

THE KING DEFIED.

"At the house of Madame K., at Versailles," writes the Independence Belge, "a severely wounded Prussian General had been quartered. She nursed him with all the love of a Christian, so that it touched the heart of German, and after he became well he went to the King and told him of his kind hostess.

William in company with the General paid a visit to Madame K, and told her that as she had nursed one of his generals with so much care, that he would like to do her a favor, and asked what he could do for her.

"I execrate you," she said proudly, "Tell me a place where you will not go, so that I may journey thither."

The King of Prussia colored with anger, but repressing his irritation replied calmly.

Go to England Madame, my troops will not cross the Channel."

He thereupon withdrew, but Madame K. left next day for Nantes.

Massillon, Wednesday, February 8.

A prohibition state convention is announced to be held at Delaware, O., by the voting advocates of temperance, on Wednesday the 22d inst. All who can do so are requested to be present, as the object is to nominate candidates for state officers, who are to be voted for at the next October election. Some of our editorial brethren would make out that the such a movement is futile—for no use—as the candidates there nominated cannot possibly be elected. The great and good Samuel Lewis, one of the faithful liberty men of other days, was once or twice nominated for governor on the anti-slavery ticket, and he used to tell opposing politicians when they said he would never be elected on that issue that there was no knowing who would be governor until after the election True, he was never elected, but Mr. Chase was on the very same ground. So our politicians need not worry themselves about the Delaware nominations, for they can't tell who will be governor until after the election.

The coming annual meeting of the Pittsburgh conference, of the M. E. church will be held at Steubenville, commencing on Wednesday the 15th of March. Bishop Clark will preside over the deliberations of the conference, which consists of some 250 or 300 members. These annual gatherings never fail to lend interest to the locality in which they occur, as there are always many distinguished men in attendance; and this time it is expected that a number of women will be there, who occupy somewhat prominent positions in the church. Bro. Allen, of the Steubenville Gazette proposes publishing a daily during the progress of the conference, which will continue three or perhaps four days, in which will appear the transactions of the conference, besides other appropriate matter.

Dr. Galentine, of Cleveland, who some months ago shot Dr. Jones for alleged improper intimacy with his wife, was on trial, at that city for sixteen days, ending last week. The jury rendered a verdict of manslaughter in the third degree, and the court sentenced him to ten years imprisonment in the penitentiary, the longest period the law permits for such an offense. As in many similar cases so it was in this, there was difficulty in selecting a jury of competent, disinterested and qualified men. Every year it is becoming more and more evident that there is an increasing feeling against capital punishment; for jurymen have to decide whether an accused person is to be hung or not. The responsibility of such a position is keenly felt by a large class of men, and they evince a disposition to be not placed in a position where life is at stake. Were capital punishment abolished in all the states there would be less difficulty in selecting juries in cases where life is at hazard.

Reference was made last week to a liquor trial at Akron, where a suffering woman prosecuted certain liquor sellers for furnishing her husband with liquor with which to make him drunk, and thus incapacitating him from supporting his family. She asked damages to the amount of $300, and after a protracted and exciting trial the jury awarded her the full claim. It is said the defense talk of appealing to a higher court, and if they can't make a better show than on the first trial they will fare still worse, as they will have to foot the bill of costs—that is, pay for the whips with they are deservedly flogged. At St. Clairsville, recently, the mayor fined four fellows $25 each for making a man drunk, besides cost and sending the quartette to jail ten days. This legal suasion is making things interesting for drunkard makers. So may it continue.

The unsettled condition of affairs between France and Prussa since the cessation of hostilities continues to be the theme of discussion, and any amount of speculation. One great difficulty which is in the way of a final adjustment of questions at issue between the parties is, that the French national government has been so effectually annihilated that the German leaders have difficulty in finding responsible parties with whom to contract a permanent peace. Napoleon is used up, and none of the other French chiefs have authority, or if they assume it, they have not the confidence of the people to make terms of peace such as the Prussian government exacts. Efforts are being made, however, to establish terms of peace, and perhaps will soon be completed.

Since Paris has gone up a great deal of lager has gone down—how much, who can tell?

Congress devoted some attention the other day to the postage question, and indications are favorable that the franking privilege will be abolished. The president very properly recommends that vessels be loaded with provisions chartered and sent to Europe to feed the war stricken people.

Governor Hays has issued an order for a special election to be held, in Columbiana county, on the 15th. inst., to choose one person for representative to the legislature, for the purpose of filling the vacancy occasioned by the death of G. I. Young. Josiah Thompson, we are informed has been nominated by the republicans. Mr. T. is a citizen of East Liverpool, has had considerable experience as a member of the legislature, is highly esteemed by all who know him and his nomination is but another name for an election in that county as the democracy look from 1000 to 1500 sometimes to be even with their opposers.

Sixteen car loads of tea, it is said, passed here one day last week, which started from San Francisco for New York with the intention of going through without breaking bulk. Traveling some 3000 miles by rail without changing that quantity of freight is something rather extraordinary.

The company that have the final control in locating the extension of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to the northwest have not yet acted, and probably will not before next spring Meantime the friends of the route passing this way are vigorously at work, feeling assured that their claims will be entitled to serious consideration.

At Steubenville a grogselling victim has been bled to the amount of some $700 in the way of fines and costs for selling liquor to a drunken man. This man's wife brought suit and has secured about $400 damages, some little compensation for the sufferings she has undergone. One of these days it will not be surprising if some of the badly treated women of this place will try to seek redress from wrongs endured by abuses from drunken husbands. Our legislature is still making more stringent laws in regard to the sale of liquor—one to oblige the drunkard to tell where he got drunk, and another providing that when a toper gets beyond managing his affairs from this cause guardians shall take charge of his property.

Bad liquor is giving our town officials something to do. Rows have sometimes to be settled by legal suasion.

Public sales will be held in this neighborhood as follows: On the Kempf Farm, 2 miles south of Fairview, Feb. 16th.—by David Fisher: in Sugarcreek township, ¼ of a mile south of Dalton, Feb. 17th—by Isaac Cocklin; one mile north of Lawrence on the McFadden Farm, Feb. 21st.—by Nathaniel Brown; half a mile northwest of West Massillon, Feb. 24th—by Abraham Bowman.

The Union Republican Executive Committee have printed a special message of the president a senate document—in which are detailed many of the Kuklux outrages on the people of North Carolina. Some sixty pages are filled with statements recounting the sufferings and even the deaths among the union people caused by these outlaws, and the object of presenting the fact to congress is to secure protection by the national government if no other plan can beadopted for their safety. It is certainly quite time the mischiefs and murders by rebel hordes were stopped, not only in North Carolina but other southern and southwestern states. It seems that no argument but that of shooting down these miscreants will avail to convince them of their iniquitous doings.

The young men's Christian Association of Ohio are now holding a series of "practical religous meetings," which commenced on the 24th ult. and appointments are ahead to the 19th of March next ending at Marietta. Massillon is one of the points designated, where meetings will be held on next Wednesday and Thursday, the 15th and 16th inst. The following items of intelligence will further explain the special aims at which this work is directed. Massillon is a good place at which to make an effort to establish an association and the probability is, that it will prove successful:

First—To revive the associations which have became dormant and inefficient.

Second—To organize new associations where none exist.

Third—To excite in all Christians greater interest in the peculiar work of Young Men's Christian Associations.

Fourth—To instruct laymen in the best means of leading young men to Christ.

Fifth—To institute measures to secure permanent buildings for associations.

A circular from the State Executive Committee says:

"K. A. Burnell, who has had large experience in conducting service of the character proposed, will make a tour of the State, and be present at all of the meetings. He will be assisted by one or more gentlemen from the State, and by the pastors of churches and prominent laymen who reside at the points above indicated. A Christian business meeting will be held in the afternoon, especially for Christians who want to do more work and better work for the Savior. Mass meetings will be held every evening, and whenever time permits, if desired, a Layman's Institute will be conducted. The service will thus be made to vary as much as possible.

At a special muster of Hart Post, No 2, G. A. R. the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS: All-Wise, overruling Providence, has seen fit to remove from our midst, by death, our much esteemed, late comrade, DANIEL V. CLARK;

WHEREAS: Being fully sensible of our loss by the death of our comrade, and sympathizing with the family of the deceased in this great affliction, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in the death of comrade D. V. Clark this post has suffered the loss of a valuable member and an esteemed comrade, whose sincere devotion to the objects of our organization, has merited this, our grateful tribute to his memory.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the family of the deceased, and that we herein tender to them our hearty condolence for this their deep affliction.

Resolved, That the quarters of the Post be draped with the emblems of mourning for the period of thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to the newspapers of this city for publication, and that the Post Adjutant be instructed to deliver a copy to the family of the deceased. Attest:—

Massillon, Feb. 6, 1871.

At a regular meeting of the officers and teachers of the M. E. Sabbath School, of Massillon, held Feb. 5th, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Sister F. P. Church is about to leave us for a distant part of the country.

Resolved, That we gratefully acknowledge her as an efficient teacher of the infant class, and regretting the necessity of her departure, commend her to God, praying that she may be kept by his power unto final salvation, and at last all meet in Heaven.

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to present a copy of these resolutions to Mrs Church, and that the newspapers of the city be furnished a copy for publication.

C. B. ALLMAN, Sec'y

At a regular muster of Hart Post, No. 2, G A R Wednesday evening Feb. 3d 1871, the following preamble & resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS: In the late rendition of the "Union Spy" by the members of this Post, it was necessary to call to our assistance services of ladies and gentlemen not members of our order, and,

WHEREAS Feeling grateful for the kind assistance of all who aided us in the play, and for the liberal patronage of the citizens of Massillon and vicinity, therefore,

Resolved, That the thanks of this Post be extended to all who aided us or took part with us in the rendition of the "Spy," in the Opera House, on the 25th, 26th, 27th, days of Jan., and also to our citizens generally, for their liberal patronage during the play:

Resolved, that the Post Adj't. be and he is hereby instructed to inscribe these Resolutions on the record of the Post, and also to cause the same to be published in the INDEPENDENT and American newspapers of this city.

A NEW RAILWAY PROJECT.

We speak of the Lake Shore and Tuscarawas Valley Railroad as a new project, inasmuch as it has not yet taken on the form of a perfected corporation. The line of this proposed railway is from Berea, on the C., C., C., & I. railway, to Medina, hence to Wadsworth—where it strikes extensive and valuable coal fields—thence to Massillon, thence to Dennison, a station in Tuscarawas county on the Panhandle road, that connects Columbus with Pittsburg.

The matter has been presented to gentlemen in the management of the Lake Shore railway, and those gentlemen have expressed a very favorable opinion of the project. Coal by this line can be struck at a distance of forty miles from Cleveland, and of a quality that bears comparison with any coal now brought to this market.

It is said, coal can be hauled into Cleveland by this route at a freight of one and one half cent a ton per mile. Those familiar with the coal traffic can make their own figures on these premises. It is proposed that the Lake Shore Company cash the bonds of the L. S. & T. V. Company to an amount that will purchase the iron, and that the same company stock the road, taking security, of course, for so doing.

The effort required of Cleveland is to raise four hundred thousand dollars. By doing so the project seems assured. Deep interest is felt in this scheme at Medina, Wadsworth and Massillon, and those places will show their faith by their works. Mr. Thomas Jones, Jr., is the accredited agent of this enterprise in this city, and measures are now in progress to get the company into working shape and to press the matter to a speedy consummation.—Cleveland Herald.

The Legislature of Ohio has just passed a law providing for the appointment of guardians over drunkards who are wasting their property and likely to become a public charge. On complaint to the courts and furnishing of proper evidence that the inebriate needs such control, a guardian will be set over the party with powers equivalent to those of the guardian of a minor, and will retain his position until the reformation of his ward shall render his watchfulness needless. Other States have similar enactments in force and in every case the results have been peculiarly gratifying. Thousands have been reclaimed and made reputable members of society who would otherwise have brought suffering and disgrace upon their families, and gone down to the drunkard's grave.

The Louisville Courier Journal is too outspoken for the Democracy of Kentucky. That paper denounces, in unqualified terms, the Kuklux outrages in Kentucky; and holds the Democratic party responsible for the maintainance of law and order; condems the law that pushes the negro from the witness stand, and boldly tells Democracy that it must mend its ways or suffer the rules of Radical force. For this the Courier and Journal has fallen under Democratic disbleasure and a new Democratic paper is soon to be started in Louisville under the editorial management of Mr. Shipman.

'Sure, an' it wasn't poverty that drove me from the ould country,' said Michael, the other day, 'for my father had twenty-one yoke of oxen and a cow, and they gave milk the year round.'

Mark Twain says: 'I have seen slower people than I am—and more deliberate people than I am—and even quieter, and more listless, and lazier people than I am. But they were dead.

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN.

Safe! Profitable! Permanent!

Jay Cooke & Co.,

offer for sale at par and accrued interest the first Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

Those bonds are secured, First, by a First Mortgage on the railroad itself, its rolling stock, and all equipments; Second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than twenty two thousand acres of land to each mile of the road.

The bonds are free from United States tax, the principal and interest are payable in gold—the principal at the end of thirty years, and the interest semi annually, at the rate of seven and three tenths per cent per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100 $500, $1,000; $5,000, and $10,000.

The trustees under the mortgage are Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Co.

These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable at ten per cent premium (or 1.10) in exchange for the company's lands at their lowest cash price.

In addition to their absolute safety, these bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first class security. Persons holding United States 5 20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacifics, increase their yearly income one third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.

How to Get Them—Your nearest bank or banker will supply these bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our agents, who will allow the highest current price for all marketable securities.

Those living in localities remote from banks may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express; and we will send back Northern Pacific bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further particulars pamphlets, maps, etc, call on or address the undersigned, or any of the banks or bankers employed to sell this loan.

DR. WHITTLESEY, ESQ.

Dear Sir—Having stated it verbally to you, I have no hesitation in writing the fact, although not disposed in favor or to recommend patent medicines in general.

I do this more readily in regard to the sick headache cure prepared by Dr. Whittlesey, of Norwalk, Ohio. I have analyzed and tried it, and I recommend it as one of the best dyspepsia cures ever invented, and I feel that in recommending Whittlesey's cure I am doing an act of justice to the compounder of it, and an act of benevolence to those afflicted with dyspepsia and sick headache for which it is recommended.

Yours Respectfully,
FRANCIS RAAS, M. D.

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved, for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

LOCAL MATTERS.

The editorial convention to take place this year, a brief allusion to which we made last week, is to be held at Akron, commencing on Thursday the 23d of this month. The committee on invitation, all of whom live in that city, extend a welcome to the brotherhood of Ohio to be present. If possible, and there is no interference by divine providence, who is charged with carrying so many people to the other side, Messieurs Committee, set down one delegate for the office of the Massillon INDEPENDENT. We want to be there and see the assemblage of choice fellows who may gather on that occasion to legislate for the benefit of the craft.

Senator Sherman has favored us with a copy of his speech on the income tax when under discussion, as to whether it should be repealed or not. He favors its continuance, and concludes his speech by saying—"But impelled by a sense of duty, in the interest of the whole people, I feel bound, without any regard either to my own interest or the interest of my state, to maintain this and all other taxes until I can see daylight ahead and a better time to repeal them."

We are under obligations to Hon. S. C. Bowman for a copy of the Ohio Geological Survey for 1869. It embodies a large amount of information of a scientific nature in regard to the mineral resources of the state.

The ground, after laying bare a number of days was covered with a fine fall of snow, which commenced on yesterday afternoon, but it wont stay long.

Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly, is published in the city of New York by Victoria C. Woodhull & Tennie C Claflin, and the way they go for progress, free thought, untrammeled lives—breaking the way for future generations—is perfectly refreshing to the reader who enjoys a wholesouled, gushing style. We say, prosperity attend them, and as they are wealthy in cash and its equivalents, living among the Wall street brokers of Gotham, their shrewdness and their advocacy of the right on the franchise question, places them ahead of any and all those fogies who pride themselves in reveling in antediluvian darkness On the first page of this vigorous Weekly, and in large, expressive letters is the following announcement: The Cosmo political party. Nomination for president of the U. S. for 1872, Victoria C. Woodhull, subject to ratification by the national convention. Thus it will be seen that the editorial fraternity is represented among the candidates for nomination for the next presidency. Some of our modest brethren may feel a little abashed at this movement, but we are not of that sort. On reading this paper it will be found and felt scorching wherever the ebitors choose to hit. As the firm are in the banking business, and as these moneyed people in New York are divided into two clases—bulls and bears—it would be a satisfaction to us country folks to know whether this firm horn with the bulls or hug with the bears.

Linen diapers, napkins, towelings, and crashes on short margins at Estep's.

A little after noon Monday last the cry of fire aroused our citizens, when the bell pealed the alarm, and hundreds rushed to the scene of conflagration. It was discovered that the oven shed, of a house for a variety of purposes, belonging to Mr. Loeffler, in the southeast part of town, was in flames. The fire engine was soon there, but so high is the location of the burning building that no water power or engine could be brought to quench the fire. With persevering effort however the dwelling house was saved, though in considerable danger, as it stands near the place where the fire raged fiercely for a short time. No other property was lost, excepting a quantity of family provisions.

Shawls, shawls, shawls, come and see how cheap we are selling them. Humberger & Son.

Mr. Killinger, it appears by a late Canton paper, is not in the marble business. Perhaps this is so, for they are a very knowledgable people around the squatty courthouse, and posted in the wunder werclynge arts, but it has all along looked as if something was going on about Mr. K's. works, especially when people could daily see, hear and know that a marble cutter was plying his vocation there—and not an oil barrel in sight.

The Phrenological Journal—now in its 52d volume—for February, is enriched by a valuable list of articles, more or less intimately connected with the theories it so ably advocates on the question of mental philosophy. Know thyself, has long been its standing motto, and its great mission is to so instruct the reader as to first know himself, and then learn all he can of the mental and moral status of others. Among the admirable papers of this number is one containing portraits of twelve of the leading ministers of the Christian—commonly known as Disciples—church, with brief but interesting sketches of their previous lives. A portion of them are somewhat familiar to many of our citizens. The prominent leaders in several other churches have been thus brought before the public in previous numbers of the Journal. It is read by thinkers and observers everywhere. S. R. Wells, publisher, N. Y.

Papers from Columbiana county state that recently a man was killed by a train of cars running over him near the village of Unity or Palestine A whisky bottle was found on the corpse—and it is remarked that he is the sixth victim there of similar catastrophes, caused by the bottle. Like causes are attended with like results. In this vicinity since the commencement of the INDEPENDENT some eight or ten persons have been chopped to pieces near this place by trains running through them, and every case was a victim of liquor. Some had their bottles along, and others had just left the doggery where they were loaded with the cause of their death. The late war did not kill more than ten or a dozen who belonged here.

DIED—On the 4th inst, at his residence a little east of this place, Daniel V. Clark, in the 39th year of his age.

Mr. Clark was one of the patriotic young men of this vicinity, who, when his country called for his services, shouldered his musket and faithfully served as a soldier for several years in the union army. That he suffered many of the privations of a soldier was an obvious fact, as he carried the marks of wounds on his person, inflicted by rebel bullets, which no one who saw him could overlook. His comrades of Hart Post turned out in considerable force on Monday, and buried their fallen soldier with the honors of war. Appropriate resolutions of respect for the deceased and condolence with bereaved relatives, adopted by members of the Post appear in to-days paper.

A rather quiet alarm of fire was given on Sunday evening, without the ringing of bells or getting out of engines, which originated in a dwelling on the east side of the park now occupied by J Stewart Kelley. But little damage was done as the fire was soon extinguished.

Mr. Bichtel, who lost his stable by fire a few weeks ago, has the frame work of a new one up, and will soon have it in a condition ready for use. The fire which destroyed the old stable—one of the most ancient structures of the kind in town—and burned to stable of Allen Russell also, greatly endangered Mr. Russell's residence on the corner of Oak and Mill streets Fortunately the night of the fire was calm, or much more property might have been destroyed.

Theodore Tilton, for many years the popular editor of the New York Independent, is now out of that position, but is about to begin a new paper, of religious in character, in the same city, to be called the Golden Era. Mr. T. is a writer of much force and originality, and will have hosts of friends to aid him in this new undertaking.

Since the opening of February the weather has been somewhat varied—sometimes mild, at others bitterly cold. But no matter about that, for if any one will go into the woods he can hear the music of certain birds, which have already returned among us, if they even left us at all on the approach of winter.

The Voice of Prayer, a poem by Warren Sumner Barlow, is the title of a beautifully printed pamphlet of some 30 pages. The author is considerably known among a large class of intelligent readers as a writer of ability, being the author of The Voices, poems which have been read by many thousands. This last production is comprised of excellent thoughts, many of them beautifully expressed, the reading of which is well calculated to elicit thought while the sentiments commend themselves to all right minded people. Carlton, publisher, New York. 25 cts.

The alternations of thawing and freezing which have marked the weather since the disappearance of the snow, makes it very hard on the wheat and other winter grains. The fields make a rather sorrowful appearance.

What the Press Says.

The Reading (Pa) Dispatch says "The well-known superiority of Mishler's Herb Bitters will spare us the necessity of saying anything at length in favor of this magical Tonic and Stimulant Wherever this bitters is best known it meets with an astonishing sale. There are cases in this city where the most radical cures have been effected in chronic diseases—cures which the best physicians could not effect, and we know of scores of families (our own among the number) who would not be without a plentiful supply of this great household remedy for any consideration Let every family in the land keep it on hand." Unanswerable Arguments.

Established facts, are silent arguments which neither tongue or pen can shake, and it is upon established facts that the reputation of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, as a health preserving elixir, and a wholesome and powerful remedy, is based When witnesses come forward in crowds, year after year, and reiterate the same statements in relation to the beneficial effects of a medicine upon themselves, disbelief in the efficacy is literally impossible. The credentials of his unequaled tonic and alterative, extending over a period of nearly twenty years, include individuals of nearly every class, and residents of every clime, and refer to the most prevalent among the complaints which afflict and harass the human family. Either a multitude of people, strangers to each other, have annually been seized with an insane and motiveless desire to deceive the public, or Hostetter's bitters, for no less than a fifth of a century, have been affording relief to to sufferers from indigestion, fever and ague, biliousness, general debility, and nervous disorders, as no other preparation has ever imparted. To day, while the eyes of the reader are upon these lines, tens of thousands of persons of both sexes are relying upon the bitters as a sure defence against the ailments which the present season engenders and their confidence is not misplaced The local portions which interested dealers sometimes endeavor to foist upon the sick in its stead, are everywhere meeting the fate that is due to fraud and imposture, while the demand for the great vegetable tonic is constantly increasing.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15th, 1868.

Allow to call attention to my Preperation of Compound Extract Buchu. The component parts are, Buchu, Long Leaf, Cubebs, Juniper Berries.

Mode of Preparation.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper berries, by distillation to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries, very little sugar is used and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use

Buchu as prepared by druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys, this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The buchu in my preparation pre pared into smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a tincture, as made in pharmacopœa, nor is it a syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflamation exists. In this, you have a knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully

Hoofland's GermanBitters,

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Hoofland's Podophyllin Pill

Hoofland's Greek Oil.

Hoofland's German Bitters,

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirit of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure juices or vital principle of roots herbs, and barks, (or as medicinally termed extracts), the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore, in one bottle of this bitters there is contained as much medicinal virtue as will be found in several gallons of ordinary mixtures The roots &c, used in this bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific chemist and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, where they are compounded and bottled Containing no spirituous ingredients, this bitters is free from the objections urged against all others; no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circumstances, have any but a benencial effect

Hoofland's German Tonic

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases where some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the tonic properties of the bitters Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the bitters, combined with pure Santa Cruz Rum, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome, forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the bitters. The price of the tonic is $1,50 per bottle, which many persons think too high They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article? A medicinal preparation should contain only the best ingredients, and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound will most certainly be cheated.

They are the greatest known Remedies

For Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Jaundice, Disease of the Kidneys, Eruptions of the Skin, and all diseases arising from a disordered Liver, or Stomach, or Impurity of the Blood.

Read the following symptoms:

Constipation, flatulence, inward piles, fulness of blood to the head, acidity of the stomach, nausea, heartburn, disgust for food, fullness or weight in the stomach, sour eructations, sinking or fluttering at the pit of the stomach, swiming of the head, hurried or difficult breathing, fluttering at the heart choking or suffocating sensations when in a lying posture, dimness of vision, dots or webs before the sight, dull pain in the head, deficiency of perspiration, yellowness of the skin, and eyes, pain in the side, back, chest, limbs, &c, sudden flushes of heat, burning in the flesh, constant imaginings of evil, and great depression of spirits. All these indicate disease of the liver or digestive organs combined with impure blood.

The use of the bitters or tonic will soon cause the above symptoms to disappear, and the patient will become well and healthy.

Dr Hoofland's Podophyllin

Substitute for Mercury Pill.

TWO PILLS A DOSE.

The most powerful, yet innocent vegetable cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the liver, stomach and bowels of all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the alcoholic extract of mandrake which is by many times more powerful, acting, and searching, than the mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the liver, cleaning it speedily from all obstructions with all the power of mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They never fail,

In cases of liver complaint, dyspepsia, and extreme costiveness Dr Hoofland's German Bitters, or tonic should be used in connection with the pills. The tonic effects of the bitters or tonic builds up the system. The bitters or tonic purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, regulates the liver and gives strength, energy, and vigor

Keep your bowels active with the pills, and tone up the system with bitters or tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you

These medicines are sold by all druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere,

Recollect that it is Dr. Hoofland's German Remedies, that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These remedies will be sent by express to any locality, upon application to the principal office, at the German Medical Store, 631 Arch Street, Pa.

Chas. M. Evans, Prop.

Formerly C. M. Jackson & Co.

These remedies are for sale by druggists, storekeepers, and medicine dealers, everywhere throughout the United States, Canadas, So America and the West Indies 389-1y

THE FATE OF A FIGHTING DOG.

A man he owned a terrier dog—
A bob-tailed, ornery cuss,
And that there dog got that there man
In many an ugly muss;
For the man he was on his muscle,
And the dorg he was on his bite,
So to kick the dorg-goned animile
Was sure to raise a fight.

A woman owned a Thomas cat,
That fit at fifteen pounds;
And other cats got up and slid
When that there cat was round.
The man and his dorg came along one day;
Where the woman she did dwell,
And the pup he growled ferociously,
Then went for the cat pell mell.

He tried to chaw the neck of the cat,
But the cat he couldn't be chawed,
So he lit on the back of that there dog,
And bit! and chawed! and chawed!
Oh! the hair it flew! and the purp he youled!
As the claws went into his hide,
And chunks of flesh was peeled from his back;
Then he flumuxed, and kicked and died!

The man he ripped, and cussed, and swore,
As he gathered a big brick bat,
That he would be durned essentially
If he didn't kill that cat!
But the woman allowed she'd be blessed if he did!
And snatched up an old shot gun,
Which she fired, and peppered his diaphragm
With bird shot number one.

They toted home on a window blind,
And the doctor cured him up;
But he was never known to fight again,
Or to own another pup.
Folks may turn up their snouts at this here rhyme,
I don't care a cuss for that!
All I want to show is, that fighting dogs
May tackle the wrong Tom cat.

Why does an engine resemble a young woman? Because it has a train behind and puff in the (b) air.

Mr. Chawls Thampson recently ran his head against a young lady during a cotillion. 'Ah! excuse me, deah,' he cried; 'did it hurt, ah?' 'No, sir,' she replied, 'it's too soft to hurt anything.'

A drunken man, sprawling on the ground in Patterson, the other day, anxiously wanted to know whether any body else was struck by that earthquake.

A prescription was sent to a drug-store in a western town contained a postscript for the guidance of the druggists, that it was intended for the 'relecf off the kaulick.'

A fellow having a spite against a sausage maker, rushed into his shop when crowded with customers, threw a large dead cat upon the counter, and said: "That makes nineteen; we'll settle when you are not so busy."

A minister in Salem took for his text, "The flesh, the world, and the devil," and informed his astonished audience that he should "dwell briefly in the flesh, pass rapidly over the world, and hasten as fast as he could to the devil."

'Boy, why did you take an armful of my shingles on Sunday?' 'Why, sir, mother wanted some kindling wood, and I didn't want to split wood on Sunday.'

The attention of philanthropists is respectfully called to the following case. A dandy swell in New York is in a fix. His pants were made so tight for him that he can't get his boots on, and if he puts his boots on first, he can't get his pants on. This is a case of genuine distress.

A church member once said to a minister who wanted a little more salary as his family increased: 'I did not know you preached for money. I thought you preached for souls.' 'So I do, but I couldn't live on souls; and if I could, it would take a good many the size of yours to make a meal.'

A raw Irishman, just over, went into a restaurant, and was asked by the waiter what he would have.

'Why, wittles to a e, ov course,' was the reply.

A plate of hash was placed before him.

'Fot's that?' demanded Mickey,

'That's wittles,' was the answer.

Mickey eyed the compound suspiciously for some time, and finally exclaimed:

'Be jabbers the man that chewed that can ate it!'

It is customary in Massachusetts to open the session of the supreme court with prayer. At the recent term in Fitchburg, the clergyman in attendance, after asking Divine favor and guidance for the presiding judge, proceeded to implore the Lord for similar blessings for the judge's wife and children; that they might be spared in life and health during his absence, and that at the end of the term, he might be once more restored to his family. As the presiding judge was never married, his feelings may be imagined.

A gentleman taking his morning walk on the railroad track near Boston, thought he felt something touch him from behind. The coroner's inquest decided that it was a locomotive propelling a train of freight cars, that brushed him off the track.

Much as we boast of our free school system, Sweeden is quite ahead of us in a general education of the people. In 1868 ninety-seven per cent. of all the children in the kingdom were at tending school. We need not add that no country sends us a better class of emigrants than Sweeden.

$1,000 Reward will be paid by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in curing all the diseases for which it is recommended. In the cure of severe and lingering Coughs, Bronchitis and diseases of the lungs and as a blood purifier and strengthening medicine it cannot be too highly recommended. It acts promptly upon the liver, removing torpor or "Biliousness." Sold by druggists.

Without boasting of being an organ of immense influence, we may with diffidence claim that the paper is not without usefulness in the right direction, ever contending for ju s all the living issues of the day. But its principal business has ever been to subserve the local interests of the community with which it is identified, and so it proposes to continue. Its home record of the ever varying phases of business, of the prosperity of the city, and of the social and moral state of society here, with other matters too numerous to specify, will give those who come after us, and have occasion to examine the files of this paper, a faithful history of the years of its existence.

We solicit the continued patronage of our people in the confidence that we shall render satisfaction—at least as near as as we can come at it—and for such as are removing elsewhere we hope to make the INDEPENDENT a very welcome visitor.

Eclectic Physician,

Has located himself at Massillon, O., for the treatment of Female & Chronic Diseases.

Office on Main street, four doors east of the American Hotel.

All consultations and examinations of patients made free of charge.

Dr. Long examines and explains your disease without asking any questions. If he understands your case you know it, and cannot be deceived. If he cannot tell your disease, and how you feel without asking questions he does not consider himself competent to treat your case. This is the criterion to go by, and patients should not be satisfied with any other. This is the only direct and positive evidence of my ability as a scientific physician, and by this standard I am willing to be judged.

A proper diagnosis of local disease, without constitutional symptoms, that is, not affecting the system generally, must depend upon the judgement of both patient and physician.

Give Dr. Long a call, and satisfy yourselves whether he understands your cases sufficiently well to treat them successfully.

Dr. Long may be consulted in the German and English languages. Address letters, of Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, mental and physical incapacity, impediments to marriage, etc.; also, consumption, epilepsy, and fits, induced by self indulgence or sexual extravagance.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice that the alarming consequences of self abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Continues to treat all private diseases, syphilis in all its forms, gonorrhœa, gleet, stricture, orchitis, and all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; spermatorrhœa or seminal weakness and impotency, resulting from self abuse or other causes, and which produce some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured.

It is self evident that the physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must, acquire a greater skill in that speciality than one in general practice.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be sent by mail or express.

The doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail, in sealed envelope, for two stamps. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

JOS. COLEMAN.

I do not wish to inform you, reader, that Dr. Wonderful, or any other man, has discovered a remedy that cures consumption, when the lungs are half consumed, in short, will cure all diseases whether of mind, body, or estate, make men live forever, and leave death to play for want of work, and is designed to make our sublunary sphere a blissful paradise, to which heaven itself shall be but a side show. You have heard enough of that kind of humbuggery. But when I tell you that Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure the worst cases of catarrh in the head, I only assert that which thousands can testify to. I will pay $500 reward for a case that I cannot cure. A pamphlet giving symptoms and other information sent free to any address. This remedy is Sold by Most Druggists in all parts of the World.

Price 50 cents. Sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of sixty cents, or four packages for two dollars. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. See that my private stamp, which is a positive guarantee of genuineness, is upon the outside wrapper. Remember that this private stamp issued by the U S government expressly for stamping my medicines, has my portrait name and address and the words U S Certificate of Genuineness engraved upon it, and need not be mistaken. Don't be swindled by travelers and others representing themselves as Dr. Sage. I am the only man now living that has the knowledge and right to manufacture the genuine Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I never travel to sell this medicine. R. V. PIERCE, M.
